

I come not to bury Models, but to praise them.

GCMs are Pretty Darned Good...

They are the single most effective and accurate tool we have for describing and predicting the climate.

(Which is not to say that they are perfect, or even necessarily good).